II. PRESENTATIONS
   • Commission member Hansen - monthly seismicity report.
   • Commission member Hansen discussed the Advanced National Seismic System
     (ANSS) performance standards.
   • Commission member Freed discussed the State Emergency Response Commission (SERC) meeting. An interesting pilot project that is being implemented is putting a satellite phone in every village in the state.
   • Commission member Hansen discussed the ANSS implementation committee meeting that he attended. It is important that we define our standards properly.

III. OLD BUSINESS
   • The Action Item list was reviewed. Commission Chairman Aho put together a 2-page document, the State of Alaska Seismic Hazards Safety Commission Charter, based on the chartering meeting. If everyone agrees, it would be signed by all members. It could be updated regularly as appropriate. This would be the official charter of the Commission.
   • Commission member Hicks raised some questions. Where do we stand legally in the Open Meetings Act as an advisory group? Per Commission member Freed, we are subject to the Open Meetings Law. There are processes that can be done in emergency situations, designate beforehand certain kinds of executive activities that can be undertaken either by a sub committee of the group or by the Chair without coming back to the group. Our body must have 6 members for a quorum. To conduct business we need to have 6 members present at a duly constituted meeting, which means we do need to give public notices. We are an advisory body. All of our information goes through the Chairman. We actually have fairly limited powers as a Commission. If we do have a meeting to conduct business, 6 members being the quorum, we must have a majority to make a decision. Four members would have to vote affirmatively on something that we were in fact making a decision on unless we came up with bylaws that would provide for a different number. Based on the State Statute and Administrative code there is not a problem having the Chairman take responsibility for reacting to information requests between meetings if the Commission thinks that is a good idea. Chairman Aho will redistribute The Charter session document for everyone to comment on, and vote on at the next meeting.

- A suggestion to have a subcommittee was discussed. There will be an Earthquake Insurance Committee, and Commission members Carver, Maxwell, and Freed are assigned to the Committee.
- School locations and seismic zones. Commission members Carver and Hicks will work on getting some information on the list of schools such as soil types they are built on, structure site type, and age.
